Mayor Swartz has given the Lyon evangelistic party permission to hold an open air meeting on the south steps of the court house at 6:30 tonight. The big chorus choir will be present to lead the singing, and a solo by either Director Mitchell or Mrs. Powell is promised. A brief sermon will be preached by "Judge" Holloway. This is to be the real opening of the campaign, and it is believed that the big tabernacle will be filled to overflowing for the evening meeting as a result of the outdoor appeal.

Straight from the shoulder came the telling argumentative blows advanced by Dr. Lyons in the initial sermon of his series on "The Ten Commandments" and nearly 3000 persons were made to feel the importance of some evolution from the present age of lawlessness. Church members and non-church members were scored; faithless husbands and those who thought they were giving their wives just treatment were held up to ridicule till, in a sudden outburst of personal appeal, Dr. Lyons demanded that more attention be paid to the laws of God, and with his voice husky with the emotion of personal interest, shouted out: "Do I make myself perfectly clear to you? Do you hear me?" The cheering that followed every well-made point was sufficient evidence that the speaker's views, at least for the moment, had had the effect of vitalizing the scathing analysis of the present day evils.

Dr. Lyons has not yet started in earnest to show up conditions as they exist in Newark. That part of the revival is to come in a few days. He is getting into harness now with the workers who have been calling themselves Christians, but who have been delinquent in various ways in carrying out the will of the Master. The bench-warmer who hasn't been earning his salt is made the special victim of the oratorical shafts, and there promises to be a sudden and wholesale rejuvenation of conscientious spiritual activities by the time Dr. Lyons gets down to work in earnest.

Cheers for Ralph Jr.

The usual song service was held before the evening sermon and was directed by Prof. Ralph Mitchell, happy and smiling over the recent advent of a son into his home. "Three cheers for Ralph and Ralph Jr." were given willingly when the director entered the pulpit to lead the 350 voices, and with the splendid loyalty of the Newark workers as his inspiration, Prof. Mitchell re-dered one of the most impressive solos ever heard in a Newark meeting—"It is Jesus." The work is one that bears its message of redemption in the fashion that appeals to all, and Prof. Mitchell's powerful baritone carried it to every corner of the tabernacle. Mrs. Grace Powell's contribution for the evening was "God, Give Us Homes," and agreed splendidly with the excellent doctrine preached by Dr. Lyons, winning at the same time, the attention and reverence of the entire congregation by its wholesome beauty.

But let us not forget the chorus choir. There was a larger crowd present than ever last night—350 of them—and how they did sing the "New Glory Song." The children's chorus had about 150 members last night, grouped in the three front rows, and they were as plastic to the directing power of Prof. Mitchell as were the older singers. It is well worth one's effort to go to the tabernacle just to hear the children lift the songs of praise and glory to Him who is their Friend.

Get Your Own Wife, Though.

"Cheer the chorus work," Dr. Lyons advised. "I'll bet there's someone in this audience tonight who hasn't kissed his wife for two weeks; who hasn't put his arm around that dear wife for a month and said: 'You are the best little wife that ever lived.' But, you say, 'She knows it!' When that dear wife dies you will go out and bring beautiful flowers and you will weep. Friends, if you have any words of love to say, say them now. Take a little bouquet back to your wife tomorrow. It will make her feel better."

In expounding on the first Psalm, which was used as the scripture reading for the evening, Dr. Lyons expressed his belief in evolution, that is, a certain kind of evolution. "I do not say I believe in evolution of the species as Darwin believed in it," he qualified. "Some people do not know whether they came from the garden of Eden or a zoological garden. In fact, some people act as if they came from apes. Evolution is development, but by no process of evolution did a bird ever become a horse or an ape become a man. There is a little animal in the South Sea which has been going to the bad for thousands of years. You multiply that by infinity and you'll have hell. That is evolution downward."

Praise for the Advocate.

Dr. Lyons complimented the press of Newark during the opening moments of his sermon, declaring that nowhere in America had he seen better and more conscientious reports of a revival service than those which had been accorded him here. Ushers were sent through the audience with Advocate envelopes, in which coins were placed for the sending of the Advocate to out-of-town friends. The courtesy was a kindly one on the part of Dr. Lyons and the press of Newark appreciates his whole-souled appreciation of their efforts. "Many people have been brought to Christ simply by reading the newspapers," he argued. "The press has awakened the great fires of revival all over the country and they are a vital force in the development of the work." The Advocate's rate for having the paper sent to out-of-town friends daily during the Lyon campaign will be 25 cents a month, or 25 cents for the entire series.

The noon meetings are progressing nicely. Mr. Holloway—or "Judge," as he is popularly called—reported, but there is an absence of automobiles for the use of the party. A call for the tendering of machines was made from the pulpit, and resulted in four machines being offered. One man out in the audience said that the "machine he offered wasn't his, but he'd see that the Lyon party got to use it."

A Knowledge of Sin.

"For by the law is the knowledge unto sin," quoted Dr. Lyons in opening his sermon. "The principle of supply and demand is as true in the spiritual as in the commercial field. No man has a great supply of salvation unless there is a corresponding demand for it. I don't care how skillful a physician is, if the patient thinks that he's all right he wouldn't avail himself of the skill. We need

BRYAN CAPTURED BY PROGRESSIVES; FORCED TO TALK

Sacramento, Cal. Sept. 25.—William J. Bryan was captured by Progressive Republicans and addressed their state convention before entering the Democratic convention hall here yesterday.

He confined his remarks to the Republicans to an expression of appreciation at being asked to speak before a Republican convention.

Colonel Bryan devoted most of his address to the Democrats to recommendations for the platform of the California Democrats.

He arraigned Mr. Roosevelt's attitude toward the trusts, which he said was less logical than that of the Socialists.

INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE ORGANIZATION OF A FAMOUS FIGHTING REGIMENT

Newark Guards of Light Artillery of the Ohio Militia, the Pride of the City in 1856, a Majority of Whose Members Afterward Joined Company H of the Third O. V. I.—War Record of Capt. Leonidas McDougal, Who Lost His Life at Battle of Chaplain Hill.

Some time ago a notable display of historical memorabilia and relics of the wars of the United States was made in the window of the George A. Bail shoe store, in South Park place. A collection of authentic historical objects was shown, among which was a wooden marker, which was placed on the grave of Capt. Leonidas McDougal, of the Third Ohio Volunteer Infantry, who was killed at the battle of Chaplain Hill, one of the severe conflicts of the Civil War.

Desiring, for publication, a short history of the marker, the writer ascertained some of the probable sources of information, and, in so doing reviewed a fascinating story of Licking county's war-time history—a story well worth assembling, but one in which a true conception of the events may be gained only by some slight digression from the bare history of the grave marker, and some slight consideration of things previous as well as contemporary.

Among the subjects so considered are the Newark Guards and Company H, of the Third O. V. I.; for in them we find the principal character of this sketch, and on their muster rolls the names of the men whose hands moulded the interesting history of Newark and Licking county during the dark years of the civil strife and in the days preceding it. The "Newark Guards of Light Artillery of the Ohio Militia," Newark's first military company, was organized on the 15th of April, 1856. The company was armed with muskets, and had its own gun squad, with a two pounder field piece. A military band was also a regularly enlisted part of the organization. On Washington's birthday, 1858, the entire organization was paraded in front of the Preston House, and a photograph was taken, copies of which still exist. In 1859 the gun squad was disbanded, but reorganized in the same year by Dr. Thomas Patton. In 1860 the company was disbanded, but not for all time, for in the muster rolls of various companies which saw active service in

CLAIM WHEELER WAS A VICTIM OF POISONING

Father of Girl Who Left Estate to Otto Meyer, Formerly of Newark, Dead at Denver.

Denver, Sept. 25.—James Cooper Wheeler, of Hollis, L. I., father of Miss Candace Wheeler, who was drowned in Bowles Lake, near Denver, June 23, died here Monday under circumstances which the authorities consider mysterious. Wheeler came to Denver last Friday in connection with a suit involving his daughter's will. His suit to have set aside the will, which named Dr. J. H. Warren Meyer as administrator, was postponed until Oct. 2.

Wheeler registered under the name of "James Woodrow," and his identity did not become known until last evening. He was accompanied by his attorney, Emil Schnallock, also of Hollis, who registered as "Emil Sheridan." Schnallock is under the care of a physician.

According to physicians Wheeler died of uraemic convulsions.

OTTO MEYER TALKS OF WHEELER'S DEATH

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 25.—Otto Meyer, a musician of Minneapolis, when shown the dispatch from Denver last night concerning the death of James Cooper Wheeler, who opposed Mr. Meyer as beneficiary of the estate of Miss Wheeler, declared he knew no reason why Mr. Wheeler should visit Denver incognito.

"I read in a newspaper some time ago that Mr. Wheeler had been warned by his physician not to go to Denver, as the altitude there would be dangerous to his health," said Mr. Meyer.

"I am not certain that the insurance policies of which the dispatch speaks are included in Miss Wheeler's estate. Family trouble, which occurred 15 years ago, I understand was the cause of Miss Wheeler, in her will, cutting her father off with a dollar."

BADNESS OF THE ROOSEVELT KANSAS LEADERS

Pittsburg, Kan., Sept. 25.—"Gentlemen, bullies or highwaymen" was declared "much more honorable" than Roosevelt leaders in Kansas by John Maynard Harlan, who, with J. Adam Bede, spoke here yesterday.

Both men, who are "trailing" Colonel Roosevelt, were bitter in their denunciation of the Progressive party leaders.

Harlan especially denounced William Allen White for his threat to keep the Roosevelt electors on the Republican ticket if the Taft men attempted to harass the Progressives.

HARMON WILL CAMPAIGN FOR DEMOCRACY

Columbus, O. Sept. 25.—Governor Judson Harmon yesterday said that upon his return from his trip to the Pacific Coast, where he will make official selection of the site for the Ohio Building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, to be held in 1915, he will take the stump for Congressman James Cox, Democratic candidate for Governor, and the entire Democratic state and national ticket.

The Governor will return from the West about the middle of October. Whether it will be the desire of the Democratic managers to confine Governor Harmon's itinerary to Ohio or extend it over several states has not been made known.

NEW YORK TO HAVE FIRST GAME, OCT. 8

WILSON'S VICTORY IS COMPLETE

Jerseyites Stand by Governor in the

SMITH SNOWED UNDER

Defeated by Hughes in Every County in the State—Wilson
Invades Connecticut

New York, Sept. 25.—That Governor Wilson won a sweeping victory in the New Jersey primaries yesterday was evident with the returns which sifted into the Democratic headquarters today, in his fight to prevent the nomination of former U. S. Senator James Smith Jr.

Governor Wilson won in every county except one, Essex. The stronghold of the Smith forces. Returns from 511 of the 1799 districts in the state gave Congressman William Hughes, the Wilson candidate, 17,020 votes to 11,751 for Smith.

Judge Hughes said: "The vote is an absolute expression of the people of New Jersey in favor of the policies of Governor Wilson. The victory of Woodrow Wilson seems now assured at the November election."

On the Republican side the primaries were uneventful. The Progressives did not figure in the voting, except in Hudson county, where they defeated the regular organization and nominated their candidates for congress and the state legislature.

Governor Woodrow Wilson and Governor Hiram Johnson were to invade Connecticut today. The former left New York early today for Hartford, where he was scheduled to make an afternoon address. This evening he goes to New Haven for a meeting, while Gov. Johnson's program took him to New Haven for the afternoon and Hartford for the evening.

Governor Wilson planned to spend the night in New Haven and tomorrow he will go to Springfield, Barre and Fall River, Mass. On Friday he will visit Boston and Bridgeport. While in Connecticut and Massachusetts, Governor Wilson will be greeted by Governors Baldwin and Foss, respectively. On some of the occasions the New England governors will speak from the same platform with the nominee.

Governor Wilson was keenly pleased today that early returns indicated a victory by William Hughes.

NEW YORK G. O. P. TO NAME TICKET

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The 1,015 delegates and their alternates to the Republican state convention who assembled here today to select a state ticket and draft a platform were late reaching the hall and it was twenty minutes after the scheduled time when William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the state committee called the convention to order.

FIRE MARSHALS ARE INVESTIGATING CASE

Akron, Sept. 25.—Deputy state fire marshals are investigating a fire at Kenmore Monday morning when the home of Ex-Mayor Charles Smith, who resigned a few months ago, was destroyed, and since that time has received several threatening letters as a result of his resignation. The fire broke out here today and threatened to burn down the home and kill members of his family unless he left the village. It is expected that arrests will be made today.

ROOSEVELT AT CONVENTION OF DEEP WATERWAYS

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 25.—Issues of the political campaign were temporarily laid aside by Theodore Roosevelt today when he spoke here before the convention of the lakes to the gulf deep waterways association. There was no limit of partisan politics in Little Rock's reception to Col. Roosevelt. His address was devoted in the main to the subject of deep waterways, although he referred to some of the broader issue of his campaign.

RED HOT BILLET THROUGH BODY

Youngstown, O., Sept. 25.—Otto E. Henderson, 43, a catcher in the plant of the Carnegie Steel company here was killed today when a red hot steel billet struck him in the stomach and was driven almost through his body. He was supposed to catch the billet with tongs and throw it back over the roll.

COX AND LEVER COMING TO NEWARK NEXT THURSDAY TO ADDRESS THE PEOPLE

Cox, the Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, and brilliant young publisher of the Dayton News, will be in Newark next Thursday afternoon to attend the Licking County Fair and Aeroplane Meet on "All Governors' Day," and arrangements will be made to have Mr. Cox remain here Thursday evening to address the people upon the political issues of the day.

The Democratic state executive committee wires the Advocate that the brilliant South Carolina congressman, Hon. A. F. Lever, has been assigned for a few speeches in Ohio and that he will also come to Newark next Thursday.

It is therefore with pleasure that the Advocate announces that Congressman Cox and Lever will address the people of Newark and Licking county here next Thursday evening, Oct. 3, at the High School auditorium.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

R. L. Roger, assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A. visited the local association for a few hours yesterday, en route to Zanesville.

Gymnasium classes are scheduled to open at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, September 30th. Get your membership cards and gym suits ready.

Educational and boys classes, as well as the Bible school meetings of the association will not commence their season's courses until after the close of the Lyon meetings. The work is so coincident that greater good can be done by attending the tabernacle series for six weeks and getting substantial preparation for the study class that is to follow.

Messrs. Howard Oatey, general secretary of the Parkersburg, W. Va., Y. M. C. A., and Rev. Edwin Smith, a pastor of that city, who were guests at the local association yesterday, while interviewing Dr. Lyon, returned home this morning. They completed arrangements for a series of Lyon meetings in their city immediately following the Newark campaign.

INTERESTING HISTORY

The Civil War we find the names of men previously affiliated with the Guards.

At the time of the organization of the Guards the young men who made up the personnel of the company had no thought of war. The company was a "fuss company" and much in demand for patriotic celebrations, and on other occasions when the eclat derived from the presence and participation of a military organization drawn from the city's finest was desired. It was a time of "fuss and feathers," of brass buttons and gold braid, and the Newark Guards in their showy uniforms and with their military air were more than a welcome addition to any function of a social nature given by the smart set of the town.

Cleveland in the '70's took no more pride in her "Guards." Columbus in our own day takes no greater interest in her "Troop B" than Newark in 1856 took in her "Guards."

Only five members of the original company are now living. They are William Christian, Orlando Moull, Richard Harrison, George Markley, and Edward Haughey.

Many interesting bits of history have been gleaned from various sources concerning the organization when it was active. One of the most striking is the story of the ville man who acted as marshal of the day insisted upon firing salutes in the business district, and how Newark gun squad, firing a two-pound charge of rifle powder at each salute instead of the regulation half pound charge, shattered hundreds of windows in the buildings of the Muskingum capital.

As has been said, the company was organized for show with no thought of an impending conflict, but how readily when the call came, did these same young men rally to reorganization of this we find Company H of the Third O. V. I. officered by the leaders of the Guards.

Following is the list of officers and members of the Guards: D. A. D. Moore, captain; Andrew Legg, first lieutenant; Leonidas McDougal, second lieutenant; Leroy S. Bell, third lieutenant; Sam Harrison, ensign; John Ritter, color bearer; Harvey Blackman, ord. sergeant.

Sergeants: Edward Haughey, M. D. Brooke, John Timmers, James Smith.

Corporals: J. N. Rankin, W. A. King, John Beattie, Robert Wilkins. Privates: William Christian; Arthur Canard, John F. Miller, John S. Fleck, George Sherwood, George Markley, George Edwards, George Ingman, William Kane, Richard Harrison, Theodore Chandler, Morgan Odell, John H. McCune, Bennett Caffee, Amos Caffee, Fred Healy, D. Showman, D. M. Moore, Samuel M. Hunter, Leon Lee, William Caldwell, William Downer, Frank Downey, William Frye, Orlando Moull, Griff Rossbraugh, S. S. Wells, Levi Ferguson, A. S. Walker, William Horn, Theodore Roberts, Ben Smith, John Sasel, John Vanatta, Michael White.

In gathering the early data for this sketch the impression was gained that the members of the Guards were not held together by any ties during the time which elapsed between the disbanding of the company and the enlistment of the members in Company H, Third O. V. I., and other companies. This impression was shown to be erroneous after a consideration of the semi-political, semi-military organizations of the day, and an inquiry into the personality of such a body in this city.

During the heat of the excitement caused by the presidential campaign of 1860 we find the organization of semi-military companies, called the "Wide-awakes." In Newark such a body was organized, its membership being drawn from young men who took a vital interest in the political situation, who were fired by the enthusiasm of the day, and who were determined to do their share in the struggle, then so near at hand. The company wore capes, carried torches, and paraded the streets during political meetings. As captain of the Wide-awakes we find Leonidas McDougal, previously second lieutenant of the Newark Guards, subsequently captain of Company H, of the Third O. V. I.

From the ranks of the disbanded Guards, through the ranks of the Wide-awakes, and into membership in the gallant Third Ohio, we may trace the names borne by Newark's proudest families.

Company H was Newark's company, Newark's pride and at its head marched Leonidas McDougal, the descendant of a fighting Scot family, and a man whose military career, filled with honor, was brought to a close by his death on the field of battle, at the head of his company.

The scene of the company's departure from Newark has been preserved through a vivid word picture painted by the late Judge Samuel M. Hunter, in an oration at Cedar Hill cemetery one Decoration Day.

"How well do we remember when Captain McDougal's company of the old Third Ohio, the first gift of Licking county to the Union, marched down Third street that chill April day, forty-six years ago! Summer had been fired upon, and the rebellion had been inaugurated. Who does not remember the solemn faces and the streaming eyes of the people, as that little column filed down the street to take its place in the army of the union? I see before me today faces and forms that were in that devoted band. It was they who were plunging into that great unknown; it was they who enlisted under the banner which had long been unused to war. They were the first—but they were quickly followed by other companies and regiments, which marched down the same street, and took their places in the army of the Union—some of them to the east, some to the west, but all with their faces to the south and their homes behind them."

Company H, Third Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry was mustered in on April 27, 1861, at Camp Jackson, Ohio, and mustered out on August 21, 1861, by Captain Wood. Fifteenth United States Infantry. The regiment was organized near Columbus nine days after the firing on Fort Sumter. In response to the call of the president for volunteers to serve for three months. On April 28th a part of the regiment was sent to Camp Denison to prepare a suitable camping place, where it was later rejoined by the rest of the regiment. The regiment was filled on April 30, and throughout May was subjected to drill and discipline. Before orders for the field were received volunteers for three years were called for and the regiment re-enlisted with alacrity. On June 12, 1861, it was re-organized, and on June 20th, it was mustered into the service for three years; those of the three months' service who did not enlist for three years being mustered out, as has been stated, on August 21, 1861.

This regiment, because of the drill and discipline during its organization in the three months' service, was enabled to at once enter in active service. The regiment was mustered out on June 21, 1864, by reason of the expiration of its term of service.

The official list of the battles of this regiment has not yet been published in the orders of the War Department, but it bore an honorable part in many battles. It first engaged the enemy at Middle Creek Fork, West Virginia, and remained in active service until its capture by General Forrest and his Confederate cavalry in May, 1863. The list of engagements and battles follow:

- July 6, 1861. Rich Mountain, West Virginia, July 11, 1861.
- Elk Water, West Virginia, September 11, 1861.
- Bridgeport, Alabama, April 29, 1862.
- Perryville, Kentucky, October 8, 1862.
- Stone River, Tennessee, December 31, 1862.
- Sand Mountain, Alabama, April 30, 1863.
- Black Warrior Creek, Alabama, May 1, 1863.
- Blount's Farm, Alabama, May 2, 1863.

When Co. H was first mustered into the service it was officered by the following men: Leonidas McDougal, captain; Leroy S. Bell, first lieutenant; Francis P. Dale, second lieutenant. This was for the three months' service.

Its muster roll under the enlistment for three years follows: Captains: Leonidas McDougal, Leroy S. Bell; first lieutenants: John D. Whitney, John C. Wells; second lieutenants: Francis P. Dale, John W. Uien, Geo. L. Wells; sergeants: Lawrence Shields, Henry Haughey, Rees E. Darlington, Henry Gibson, Reiland Spelman, George A. Ball, George W. Caffee, David L. Bush; corporals: Walter C. Noble, Wm. Wyrick, Albert Bowers, Thomas Dexas, Daniel Hurbaugh, Byron Violet, William Redhead, John Lunceford, Richard Hughes, Patrick Brady, Henry Woodruff, John A. Palmer; teamster: Henry F. Browne.

Today only fourteen members of the gallant company survive—a sturdy band of gray-haired veterans—but each still feeling the stir of patriotism and the buoyant flow of good red blood which led him to spring forward in answer to the country's call in those days now long distant.

A list of these men with the age of each was furnished to the writer through the courtesy of Captain Ball. They are: George W. Darlington, 88; George L. Wells, 74; Andrew Hyatt, 74; Joseph Avery, 69; Thomas Haughey, 72; James Lees, 70; William Smith, 69; William Grasser, 68; James Moran, 75; Jacob Stoner, 70; George A. Ball, 69; John Orndorf, 70; C. H. Cody, 68; Thomas Stewart, 70.

Although most of the membership of the "Guards" went into Co. H, Third O. V. I., this was not true of all, notably of Captain D. A. B. Moore, afterwards a major in the First Ohio cavalry.

So, through devious paths, we arrive at last at the history or the marker—that weather-worn relic of another day—which has the inspiration of this attempt to trace with some degree of accuracy and continuity and some observance of an historical perspective the part taken by the men

An American woman simply can't—

Paris styles are fascinating, but many of them are so extreme that American women simply can't wear them. This drawing, which has just come to us from the French capital, shows one of the very latest Parisian modes as it was worn on the street.

Every woman will admit that it is captivating, but still—

If you are interested to see how smartly the impossibly extreme new styles of Paris are adapted to suit the sensible American taste, get a copy of Woman's Home Companion for October.

of this city in the War of the Rebellion.

The illustration shows the marker placed over Captain McDougal's grave after he was buried on the scene of the battle of Chaplain Hill, near Perryville, Ky., where he fell at the head of his company.

As soon as the sad news of the Captain's death reached this city, L. K. Warner went at once to Louisville and from there to Lebanon, Ky. From Lebanon he was forced to drive about 60 miles over roads far from good. He carried the body of the soldier to be taken up and brought it to Newark, together with the marker. The old headboard bears the following inscription cut deeply with a knife blade:

CAPT. L. McDougal Co. H 3 O. V.

The board, with its carving, was the work of Edward Babbitt, one of the members of McDougal's company. After being brought to this city, the marker was kept for some time in the Warner home in South Third street, but was later placed in the barn and apparently forgotten. It was discovered but a short time ago when a workman was making some repairs in which several small pieces of lumber were required. On picking up what seemed to be a small stake he discovered the carving, and the stake proved to be the marker carved by Babbitt, which had been placed on the grave of the gallant Newark soldier who met his death in battle.

In an old scrap-book owned by Mrs. L. K. Warner, and now preserved by Mrs. Ella Updegraff, is the following clipping, printed shortly after the news of Captain McDougal's death reached this city.

"Among the officers killed in the bloody battle at Perryville, Ky., on Wednesday of last week, was Captain Leonidas McDougal of this city. The deceased was a native of Newark, and was the son of our venerable fellow-citizen, Stephen McDougal, Esq., who, for many years, was Recorder of Licking county.

"Captain McDougal was about 40 years of age, a model of manly beauty, had served with credit in the Mexican War, was for many years the business agent of N. B. Hogg, Esq., and, on the breaking out of the present war, was the first man to volunteer from Licking county, and was unanimously chosen to command the first company raised for the service. Had his life been spared and the opportunity offered, he would have undoubtedly added still further to his reputation."

Yet another clipping runs:

"Captain McDougal was, when he left a member of the Second Presbyterian church, and a teacher in the Sabbath school. He was a single man, but leaves a father and other relatives who will greatly feel his loss. He was, during his early life, a member of the Marine Corps and in the United States service, but when he volunteered, a civilian in the quiet pursuits of business. His army reputation has been the best. His standing with his regiment was that of a brave and chivalrous officer and a good disciplinarian, to whom his men looked for counsel and direction."

The local post of the G. A. R. has a portrait of Captain McDougal among its historical objects and through the courtesy of Mrs. Ella Updegraff and Mr. George Warner his sword and the marker from his grave have been loaned to the organization and form interesting and valuable additions to the post's museum of historical relics.

THE POOR MARK
HANNA MAN

(New York World.)
We learn from the esteemed New York Press, now owned and directed by a large Roosevelt stockholder in the Steel Trust, that—
The election of Wilson surely means tampering with the income of the business man, the wage-earner and the rest of the American public (and that) the only way for the American voter to defend his income is to prevent the election of Wilson by voting for Roosevelt.
On the other hand, the fine old stand-patters, led by the valued New York Tribune, insist that if "the business man, the wage-earner and the rest of the American public" do not want to go to blue ruin they must retain the Aldrich-Payne-Smoot tariff by voting for Taft.
What is a sincere Mark Hanna man to do in these painful circumstances? He has always been willing to buy "prosperity" at Washington, but how is he going to discriminate between the two rival auctioneers, both claiming to sell the same goods?

As the time for the November elections draws near, every voter in the city and county owes it to himself and to his family to carefully inspect the various tickets presented by the different political parties. The Democratic candidates especially invite an investigation as to their fitness to serve. Never has the party in Licking county nominated a ticket in which all candidates were so uniformly well qualified to serve the people in a capable fashion as they have this year.

TARIFF, TRUSTS AND HIGH PRICES

Republicans are trying to prove that neither the tariff nor the trusts are responsible for the high cost of living. But Moody's Magazine says that "never in our history, perhaps, except in war periods, has the price level risen faster than it rose during the first few years after the passage of the Dingley tariff in 1897, and during the period when trusts were forming rapidly. The Republicans are particularly anxious to prove that manufactured goods have not advanced in price, so much as farm products. Moody's Magazine refutes this. It says:—
"From July 1, 1897, to January 1, 1900, the prices of foodstuffs (in which there are but few trusts) advanced but 25 per cent, while the prices of metals, clothing and miscellaneous products (in which there are most trusts) advanced 37 per cent. Notable advances occurred in Steel Trust productions, some of which more than doubled in one or two years."
The Steel Trust was not formed till 1901, but the companies that formed it were themselves combinations in restraint of trade, suppression of competition and advance of prices, and several prices were advanced after the steel combinations had been combined into the grand combination of the Steel Trust.

The most forceful woman in American politics today is Mrs. J. Borden Harrison. Among her many reasons why Woodrow Wilson should be elected President she says: "Because though a leader of progress, Woodrow Wilson is again setting up the old standard of principles for all men to follow, instead of tolerating the degeneration that has come into our political life resulting from the control of the many by the few."

ALL NEWARK VOTERS MUST REGISTER

This being presidential year, the election laws require that the electors in all cities whose population is between 11,800 and 100,000 present themselves at their voting places for registration. In cities the population of which is over 100,000, the law requires that the electors register every year, but Newark, coming below that figure, is in the class in which the voters register every presidential year.

The registration days this year will be on Thursday, Oct. 3, Thursday, Oct. 10, Friday, Oct. 18, and Saturday, Oct. 19. On these days the voting places will be open for registration purposes from 8 o'clock a. m. until 2 o'clock p. m., and from 4 o'clock p. m. until 9 o'clock p. m.

As an eleventh hour salvation for those whose business takes them out of the city on the regular days, the voting places will be open on Nov. 4, the day before election, between the hours of 5 and 7 in the evening.

The work of the registrars has been extended this year by a recent statute, which provides for the taking of data concerning applicants whose right to register is questioned. The forms furnished to the registrars for this purpose assume the proportion of a Bertillon record, having spaces for the apparent height, weight and age of the applicant, as well as the color of hair and eyes and any distinguishing marks or scars.

HAY FEVER

"Oh, I would amputate my head, if I possessed a cleaver or tomahawk or hand saw," said the victim of hay fever. His nose was colored so the boys mistook it for a beacon. He kept up a noise the scared the village deacon. "I am so weak," he sadly sighed, "that I can scarcely totter; my face is though it had been fried, my eyes are running water. And every place I go I hear the politicians scolding; they're pointing out the evils here, and things that need reforming. I've heard of many public woes, but I have heard no duffer suggest a remedy for those who from hay fever suffer. The remedy's as plain as day, and might be used tomorrow: for congress should abolish hay, and thus relieve our sorrow. If government was managed right, we'd all be hale and hearty. Hay fever victims! Let's unite and start the Big Sneeze party." Alas, our poor old government! It always needs a kicking! There'll be much discontent, protesting, roaring, kicking. Until the last soreheaded man his native soil is under, let government do what it can, it's bound to catch blue thunder.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

By O. Terrence.
S. S. CHAMBERLAIN WAS THE FIRST "YELLOW" JOURNALIST.

What is called "progressive journalism" by its friends, as "yellow journalism" by its foes, is the composite product of many minds. Arthur Brisbane, Morrell Goddard, Joseph Pulitzer and S. S. Chamberlain were the pioneers in the new school of newspaper work. It is to Chamberlain probably belongs, whatever of credit or discredit attaches to the discovery of the basic principles of "saffron journalism."

Samuel Selwyn Chamberlain was born in Weymouth, N. Y., sixty-one years ago today, Sept. 25, 1851, and graduated from New York University at the age of twenty. He commenced his newspaper career on the Newark, N. J. Advertiser. Within two years he had made good so effectively that Bennett gave him a position on the New York Herald. He remained with that paper four years, when Pulitzer offered him a better salary on the World. After a year he returned to the Bennett forces, becoming editor of the New York Evening Telegram. Going to Paris, he edited the European edition of the Herald, and in 1884 founded "Le Matin." This publication later became the property of P. Duncanson, and Chamberlain returned to America.

While Chamberlain was in Paris, William Randolph Hearst had become the proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner. From a journalistic wreck he had built it up until it had a daily circulation of 25,000. Not satisfied with this minor success, Hearst was looking about for a man who could make the Examiner the big paper of the Pacific coast. He found his man in Chamberlain—a man familiar with all the methods of the most sensational newspaper of the time, and with a host of original ideas in his teeming brain.

One of the prettiest parties of the week was the sewing party given on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. Park Shal and Miss Ruth Hatch at the Shal home in North Sixth street, out of compliment to Miss Anne Davis. The residence was prettily arranged with asters in lavender and white and the creation for the centerpiece was a miniature lake surrounded by a bank of asters and greenery, while a tiny birch bark canoe filled with lavender and white blossoms floated on the lake. The afternoon's entertainment was featured by a contest in which clothes pins were dressed to represent the bridal party, in which Mrs. Bernard Wingerter was the fortunate contestant and she graciously presented the souvenir to Miss Davis.

A course dinner was served the following guests: Mesdames W. H. Davis, Jesse Hatch, Edward Rowe, Ralph Davis, Frank Webb, Joseph Pugh, Bernard Wingerter, Walter Metz, Earl Russell, Misses Anne Davis, Anne Sprague, Bertha Latimer, Addie Jones, Nellie Jones, Margery Collins, Frances Collins, Lillian Kammerer, Emma Kammerer, Annette Besuden, Haze Althool, Corinne Miller, Louise Norpell, Frances Wright, Mary Nichols, Spray Douce, Edythe Hall, Mabel Smucker, Katherine Vance and Mrs. Paul Franklin of Columbus.

FORMERLY WORKED ON THE ADVOCATE

In a recent issue of the Advocate, the death was chronicled of James A. Hamilton, aged 66 years, at Wooster, one of the oldest editors in the state. For many years the deceased was a resident of Newark, and was employed in the office of the county auditor under William D. Morgan, and later, during the management of the Advocate by Mr. Morgan, held a staff position on the paper. He left Newark to go to Wooster where he remained but a few years, finally settling in Orrville, where he established the Crescent, a progressive newspaper that won him considerable reputation in editorial circles.

FIRST THINGS

The first successful experiment in quadruplex telegraphy—sending four messages along one wire—was made between London and Liverpool 35 years ago today. This was hailed by the scientific world as a tremendous achievement, although in these days of wireless telegraphy it seems commonplace. Until 1853 it was considered impossible to send more than one message along a wire at a time. In that year Dr. Gintl, an Austrian, succeeded in transmitting two messages in opposite directions simultaneously. In 1855, Stark of Vienna sent two messages in the same direction. The duplex telegraphy apparatus was perfected by Stearns, an American, and was soon followed by the quadruplex telegraph.

The first number of Public Occurrences, the first American newspaper, was issued in Boston 222 years ago today, but it was suppressed by the legislature before the second issue appeared.

THE HOMELIEST MAN IN NEWARK

To Receive Recognition at the Moose Fall Festival Next Week.

Not the least interesting feature of the Moose Fall Festival, which will be held here next week are the various contests which will be held. First, to decide the two most popular young ladies of the city, and already a number of charming maidens have expressed a willingness to enter the race as the two who will receive each a handsome diamond ring. Other contests will decide who is the most popular miss between the ages of 6 and 10, dolls beautifully arrayed in Parisian gowns proving the attraction. The most popular boy gets a bicycle, with a gold watch as a second inducement, and two dainty diamond rings await the handsomest babies. The homeliest man in town also is to receive recognition, a big sapphire ring consoling him for his beauty deficiencies. The prizes are on display at Fuchs Bros' jewelry store, and are attracting much attention, while the brisk voting shows how enthused the people are in the contest.

Those Peruna Testimonials

How They are Obtained?

S. B. Hartman, M.D.

For a great many years I have been gathering statistics as to the effects of Peruna when taken for catarrhal discharges. I have on hand thousands of unsolicited testimonials from people in all stations of life, who claim that after a number of years' futile attempts to rid themselves of chronic catarrh by various forms of treatment they have found complete relief by the use of Peruna. These testimonials have come to me unrequested, unsolicited, unrewarded in any way, directly or indirectly. They have simply been gleaned from my private correspondence with patients that have been more or less under my treatment or taking my remedies.

No remedy, official or unofficial, has a greater accredited basis for the claims we make for it than Peruna as a remedy for catarrh.

I have never been opposed at any time to the regulations offered by the Pure Food and Drugs Act. I am not now opposed to its provisions, but I am opposed to the proposed amendments to give to a partisan board of physicians the unqualified authority to decide as to all the therapeutic claims which may be made for a proprietary medicine. It is manifestly unjust to refer such questions to a body of men who are already convinced of the worthlessness of proprietary medicines. To give such a body of men the unlimited authority to decide whether our claims for Peruna are valid or not is a manifest violation of our constitutional rights.

My claims are based both on credible theoretical grounds and upon irrefutable statistics. But I am quite willing to have our claims as to the composition of Peruna properly and thoroughly investigated, and if found to be false a proper penalty should be fixed. Or if I am making any statements concerning disease, as to the nature, symptoms or danger of any disease, if I am making any such statements as to unnecessarily frighten the people by false assumptions, I am willing to submit to any unbiased tribunal or investigation.

Mrs. Alice Bogle, 503 Clinton street, Circleville, Ohio, writes: "I want to inform you what Peruna has done for me. I have been afflicted with catarrh for several years. I have tried different medicines and none seemed to do me any good until I used Peruna. I have taken six bottles and can praise it very highly for the good it has done me. I also find it of great benefit to my children."

Peruna is for sale at all drug stores.

The had purchased the grocery stock from money he saved while carrying an Advocate route in North Newark during the past year.

Ohio Electric May Install Two "Pay-As-You-Enters"

According to the statement of an employee of the Ohio Electric, two "pay-as-you-enter" cars have been ordered by the company and will soon be placed in use. Whether the cars will be placed in commission in Newark has not yet been decided. They may be put in service in any of the cities where the company operates the city car lines. These cars have been given a thorough trial in many of the larger cities and are found to be very satisfactory to the patrons. It would be a decided innovation in Newark and local patrons of the Ohio Electric would be glad to see them given a trial here.

OBITUARY

MISS MARILETTA BRUMBACK.

The older generation of residents of Newark and vicinity were shocked to learn Wednesday morning that the Grim Reaper had called Miss Mariletta Brumback to her eternal rest, death occurring some time during the night. The deceased, who was one of the most beloved women in her community, was about sixty years of age. She spent her entire life on the old Brumback farm, about five miles south of the city, assuming control of it, with her sister, Miss Rebecca Brumback, on the death of her father, John Brumback, in 1899.

Miss Brumback had been in ill health for some time and had been complaining of increased feebleness during the past few weeks. Tuesday night before retiring, she remarked that her condition seemed a little worse than usual and that she doubted whether she could survive the winter. Her sister remembered this statement Wednesday morning when Miss Brumback failed to get up for breakfast and on investigating found that death had visited the home during the night. Death is believed to have occurred during the early hours of Tuesday evening.

The deceased is survived by two brothers, Henry Brumback of Mt. Vernon, Mo., and Newton Brumback of Denver, Colo., and three sisters, Miss Rebecca Brumback of Newark, Miss Elizabeth Powell of Chicago, and Mrs. Artemisia Winter of Newark. She also leaves a number of nieces and nephews, of whom Prof. A. M. Brumback, head of the chemistry department of Denison university, is the only one residing in this immediate vicinity.

Miss Brumback was a member of the Baptist church and had served faithfully in its councils for the past fifty years. Arrangements will no doubt be made for the holding of the funeral services Friday morning with Rev. J. A. Bennett officiating. Interment is to be made in Granville cemetery, where Jeremiah Brumback, a favorite brother of the deceased and father of Prof. A. M. Brumback, is buried.

INJURY MAY NECESSITATE AMPUTATION

While working on a barn near Union Station yesterday afternoon, Lee Marlow, a well known resident of Pataskala, received injuries which it is feared, will necessitate the amputation of his right leg. Marlow is now at the Grant hospital, Columbus under the care of physicians who are considering a minor operation in the hope of saving at least a portion of the injured limb.

The injury was caused by the falling of a heavy timber, which pinned Marlow to a beam. The tendons of his leg were badly torn and the bones broken as though they had been made of egg shell. Other workers on the barn rushed to the aid of the Pataskala man and a physician ordered his removal to the Columbus institution. Marlow is a married man and has a wife and six children dependent upon him.

WASHINGTON WITH CLAY. A savage tribe in Africa daubs cloth with clay, then rubs the dirt out in the river. That's a good deal like using a hunk of yellow soap that is made heavy with rosin and stale grease. The rosin stays in the cloth and keeps some of the dirt with it, and then your clothes look streaky.

Easy Task Laundry soap—the white soap made of cocoanut oil, borax, naphtha and wholesome tallow—takes the dirt out. That's its business—taking dirt out and driving disease germs away. Twenty-five years of reputation back of it, and it is but five cents a cake.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Jessie, the
Make Believe Girl

"Did you come from Cuba?" she asked.

JACK and Evelyn wanted to hear about Jessie's latest prank. Jessie was a young friend of theirs whose thoughtlessness sometimes made trouble for herself and amusement for other people. "One of Jessie's failings is a love for stories," said daddy. "Jessie is never happier than when she can get some one to read or tell her a story. A new family moved into the neighborhood. Jessie took quite a fancy to the pleasant faced lady who worked so much in her garden, and when she passed one day she stopped to peer through the railings of the fence. "The lady saw her and asked her to come in. "I'll pretend I'm a real grownup lady going a-visiting," Jessie had said to herself as she opened the gate.

"Jessie answered very politely when spoken to and nibbled at the piece of cake which the lady brought from the house, though at home Jessie generally was not so careful to keep the crumbs in her lap and eat very, very slowly.

"After she had finished the cake Jessie looked around, and then her little tongue began to run on.

"Oh, isn't this awful weather?" she cried.

"Why, no," the lady replied. "This seems to me to be very pleasant weather."

"Oh, my, it's so cold!" the little girl exclaimed. "Now, in Cuba, where I used to live, it's ever so much warmer all the year."

"Oh, did you come from Cuba?" the lady asked.

"Oh, yes!" said Jessie. "I was born in Cuba, and I always lived there till my mamma came to stay with grandma."

"It's a good place to live, Cuba is," Jessie went on. "They have such lovely flowers and big trees and pretty birds."

"Jessie told the nice lady a great many more things about Cuba just as she had heard her auntie tell them after she came home from her Cuban trip.

"Several weeks afterward the church had a fair, and one evening Jessie was taken to it. It happened that the new neighbor sat down by Jessie's aunt and began to talk.

"Ah, there's the little girl from Cuba," the neighbor said as Jessie came up.

"And then it all came out. Jessie had never been in Cuba, and she had only been playing one of her make believe plays with the neighbor lady. But the neighbor lady didn't understand make believe plays, and I'm afraid she thinks Jessie is a little fibber, for she never asks her into her garden any more nor offers her pieces of cake."

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home Made Mixture.
Miss Blanche Ross, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, is the subject of an interview at Chicago, Ill., in the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which I will give you. Take a half pint of water and 1 oz. of Bay Rum, a small quantity of Barbo Compound, and 1 oz. of Glycerine. Mix these ingredients and apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. This will make a gray hair black and is excellent for younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

The film is one of a series to be given by the Lyric management, each film, however, being distinct in its idea and well worthy the attention of Newark patrons. OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Now, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

As a result of preparation of this sort is Wedel's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. The picture will give you some idea, but it does not do it justice by any means. It's a hands-on three button suit, cut along graceful lines with here and there added points of fashion that you don't see in ordinary clothing. RECOMMENDATIONS REPORTED BY THE BAR COMMITTEE

The committee, consisting of Edward K. Kibler, Carl Norpell and Albert A. Stadel, appointed last Monday by the Court of Common Pleas to consider certain propositions submitted by the Circuit Judges of the state to the various members of the bar, concerning the organization of the new court of appeals, under the constitutional amendment recently adopted, made a report this morning to the members of the bar at the morning session of the common pleas court.

The committee made recommendations on fourteen different propositions submitted initially as follows:

That the chief justice, a present in office, has the power to assign judges of the court of appeals. That an act should be drafted providing for the election of a chief justice. That the new court of appeals need hold but one term of court in each county each year; that the court may establish more than one permanent county seat for holding court. That there should be a rule of the Court of Appeals regarding the re-hearing of cases. That the Supreme Court should adopt a rule governing the certification to it of cases of public or great general interest; that there should be a reporter and also a stenographer of the court of appeals; that bills of exceptions should not be abridged to narrative form; and that appeal cases be not heard on the transcript of the testimony except by consent of parties in the court of appeals.

The conclusions reached by the committee will be sent to the judges of the circuit court who meet at the state house next Saturday.

ANYTHING TO BEAT SCALPERS IS THE SLOGAN

New York, Sept. 25.—The playing dates and other details of the world's series will be settled today by the three members of the national commission, Chairman August Herrmann and Presidents Thomas J. Lynch and Ban B. Johnson of the National and American Leagues. Mr. Lynch, who was the only member of the commission here last night, said he expected his colleagues to arrive from the west Wednesday morning. They will go at once to the home of President John T. Brush of the New York National League club, in Pelham Manor and hold their meeting there. The trip to Mr. Brush's home is due to the fact that he is suffering from an injury to his hip received in a recent automobile accident.

Mr. Lynch claims are virtually within two games of the pennant, the commission would, in deference to Chicago's chances, consider dates for Chicago as well as New York. The New York-Boston probabilities, however, will receive the most attention. The question of in what city the first game will be played will be decided, as usual, by the toss of a coin by the two club presidents.

It is practically decided that instead of alternating games between each city, there will be two contests on consecutive days in each city, and it is believed that a schedule of six games will be crowded into the week beginning Oct. 7. Unless a tie results or weather interferes, this would dispose of the championship in a single week.

In the hope of preventing the ticker scandals which marred last year's series, the commission will consider this phase carefully. When asked last night if the report that the commission would instruct the clubs to do away altogether with mail order sales was trustworthy, President Lynch said:

"Nothing to this effect has been decided upon. Our slogan is anything to beat the scalpers. We probably shall not beat them altogether in New York, but it must be remembered that there is no city in the world where the scalping business is developed to the extent that it is here, and it is a great problem to contend with."

President Lynch would not speak as to the probability that the commission would leave all the actual ticket selling to the two clubs.

"Whatever is done," he said, "will be under the supervision of the national commission and closer supervision than ever before."

Prices will be decided upon at the meeting. Those at the Polo Grounds last year—$3 for the upper tier of the grand stand; $2 for the lower tier; $1 for the bleachers—probably will be in force this year. At Boston there is a new stand, a single deck affair, and the commission will decide as to whether a $2 rate shall hold for the entire grand stand or whether it be divided at $2 for the front portion and $2 for the rear seats. A dollar will be the bleacher rate.

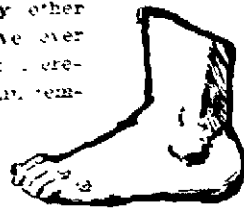

The postponement of the New York-Pittsburgh and Chicago-Philadelphia double-headers yesterday on account of rain virtually brings the Giants within two games of the pennant. It is expected that they will win it during the series of five games now billed with the Boston tail-enders.

More than 2000 spectators were at the Polo Grounds yesterday, despite the drizzle and a small riot developed among them when the first game was called off. They contended that they had not time to await the possibility of a second game and hundreds streamed to the box office, demanding their money back. The special officers were unable to handle the crowd and the city police had to be called upon to disperse the trouble makers.

APPLICANTS FOR NATURALIZATION DISAPPOINTED

They were all disappointed yesterday afternoon promptly at 1:30—that is, all those who were applying for naturalization, but they were disappointed in the hope of being received into the fold of Old Glory.

County Clerk J. E. Woodall, who received a communication from the Pittsburgh office of the department of commerce, labor, stating that Examiner W. Shockley would be in Newark on Tuesday and that at 1:30 p. m. he would conduct the naturalization hearing, the applicants present themselves to facilitate the work.

Tuesday came and 1:30 p. m. came—the applicants came, but no Examiner came. Thinking that Mr. Shockley might have been unavoidably delayed, the applicants waited for some time, but later left the building.

The only explanation that has been advanced is that the Newark officials received a letter intended for some other county seat where a hearing is scheduled and that, through a mistake, the letter intended for Newark was sent elsewhere.

Up to noon the applicants, and as a result, the alien with American aspirations have a very definite idea when they will be permitted to embrace the rights, privileges and immunities of citizens of Uncle Sam's domain.

All the applicants for naturalization have been notified to present themselves on Thursday afternoon at which time it is thought that the examiner will be in the city to conduct the hearing.

department of banks and banking, his resignation to take effect at once. Mr. Hopkins left Newark to become a state bank examiner several years ago and within the year he became chief examiner of the state with headquarters in Cleveland where he now lives.

It is known that Mr. Hopkins has had several cool offers from financial institutions since he became the head of the state department, but the message announcing his resignation does not state what Mr. Hopkins' future plans are.

CLAIMS TO HAVE PAID MONEY TO A NEWARK MAN

Edward Bible, 19, of Coshocton, who was arrested at Mr. Vernon yesterday for alleged forgery, claims to have paid to J. E. Woodall, in Newark, the amount realized on the $75 check cashed several weeks ago, retaining $10 of the money for the trouble of cashing the paper.

The check was drawn on the South Penn Oil & Gas Company of Charleston, W. Va. Another check for the same amount and signed the same way was presented a month ago and cashed.

Tuesday, Bible appeared at a Danville bank and presented a check for $137. It was similar in every respect to the others. The cashier had handed over the money on former occasions, thinking that Bible was Woodall, whose name was signed to the checks.

The first two orders had come back from the Charleston bank and had been pronounced bogus, the last one having been returned only an hour before Bible's last visit to the bank. The cashier was ready for Bible and began to question him. Bible dashed out of the door, leaving a young woman in the bank who had made the trip with him from Mr. Vernon.

He was captured at Howard where he put up a fight with a big knife and made his escape. He was again captured on the outskirts of Mt. Vernon, having walked about 10 miles towards the city.

J. E. Woodall, whose name is forged to the check, is not known in Newark as far as any inquiry could determine, though Bible claims to have paid the money over to him in this city.

Coshocton, Sept. 25.—Ex-Clerk of Courts, C. M. Bible today denied any knowledge of Edward Bible, the youth arrested at Mt. Vernon on a forgery charge. Mr. Bible states that he has but one son, Joseph C. Bible, who lives at Chili, this county. He denounces the Mr. Vernon youth as an imposter using his name.
